Refugees to Be Moved.

The plans for the transportation of Gen. Mercado, the 385 Mexican soldiers and officers and the 1851 women and children refugees to Fort Bliss at El Fasco, where they are to be held in custody indefinitely, were rushed today. As soon as they arrive at Marfa, the nearest railroad station, they will be put on trains for El Paso. Gen. Hugh La Scott informed Maj. McNames, in charge of the border patrol here, that a permanent camp with ample tents, kitchens and living arrangements have been provided at El Paso.

The Mexican soldiers are held virtually as prisoners. The women are the wives of the soldiers. They were permitted to accompany the sxiled army as their own choice. The women are to do the cooking for the Mexicans. Many of the refugees and the first company of soldiers are already scattered along the road to Marfa.

Some of Heward's friends were informed Wednesday that an effort was being made to persuade him to send his wife and Margaret Flave back to New York, and that the ultimate object of this effort was a permanent separation. Howard has not thus far admitted that he has yielded to this suggestion. In an interview with a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday afternoon at the Windermere, Mrs. Howard said she intended to return to the stage, and remarked that in the matter of pubmarked that in the matter of pub-licity she had Evelyn Nesbit Thaw "backed off the boards."

The word Medicine is one of the most abused in our language. There are certain medicinal properties ust as necessary to health as the cood we eat. Take, for example, the well-known medicine S. S. As a matter of fact, there is one agredient in S. S. Gordon Tells of His Activity company with Secretary of State Roach and Gilree and Porterfield. He said Treasurer Edwin P. Deale was in-vited to accompany the same party later in the evening on visits to Mer-riam and Gill. Roach and Deal admitted to a reporter that they were present, as Gordon had stated, but, ac ording to other witnesses, did not display the active interest in parleying that Gordon is said to have shown. William Dall was accompanied Burt A. Miller, general agent of the Equitable Surety Co., at Cleveland, O., when approached by the Kansas City bond solicitor and high State officials at Jefferson City.

Dall says he informed Gilree and Poterfield in the afternoon, immediately after the bids were opend and it was known that he was low bidder on the minimum scheme," that he had given his word to a Missouri surety company and could not consider placing his bond with any other concern. Notwithstanding this positive refusal, Porterfield and Gilree returned to the attack, reinforced by the State Auditor and Secretary of State, both of whom were members of the Board of Permanent Seat of Government at the time the present Capitol Commission was elected by the board.

Dall and Miller say that Gordon was first persuasive in his manner and later showed decided impatience with Dal!, and before the conference ended there Were sharp exchanges between Miller and the two Kansas City men.

Dall and Miller declare Gordon pointed out that it would cost Dall no more to place the bond through his friends than with the Equitable Surety Co., despite repeated assurance that Dall had given a gentleman's word to favor the Missouri corporation. Dall and Miller say that near the end of the conference Gordon remarked: "Well, you haven't get the contract yet!"

Gordon denies he called attention to the fact that there was a question still as to whether the lowest bidder on the minimum scheme would obtain the contract. He says Dall introduced the sub ject to make the point that he could not give anyone a bond until he knew he would get the contract. Dall says he did not allude to the fact that the contract award had not been made until Gordon cited it, and that he replied: 'I know I am the low bidder and entitled to the contract and I think I

Opinion Rejected Dall Bid. Three days later, Nov. 21, an opinion leclaring the Capitol Commission could ot consider the Ball bid because it was informal in that Dall failed to make proposals on eight of 31 alternates (changes in the minimum scheme work) was handed in without a written request by W. M. Fitch, an assistant in the office of Attorney-General Barker.
In its advertisement for bids, the Cap-tol Commission informed contractors "The board reserves the right to ascept any part or parts of the proposa made at the price included in same; ALSO TO WAIVE ANY INFORMALI-TIES IN and to reject any and all proposals."

now awarded to Gill, and is as binding on bidders as any other clause in the contract submitted to them for offers. vation clause in his extremely brief eration. His opinion was in response to an oral question by Chairman E. M. Stephens of the Capitol Commission, who asked if Dall's bid could be considered when he failed to bid on many of the alternates, "SOME OF WHICH ALTERNATES ARE ESSENTIAL IN AWARDING THE CONTRACT."

of the oral question put to him, and presumes that some of the alternates were essential to the awarding of a contract when, as a matter of fact, the board reserved the right to require additions work whether or not contemplated in the alternates after the contract was architect, subject to appeal to arbitrators in the usual manner.

Notwithstanding these facts of record Fitch's interpretation of the law (he does not state whether statutory or common law), was the following: "Con-cerning this question we beg to say that it is the opinion of this department that you cannot now consider such bid. The law seems very clear on this question. If you should permit same it would be in effect reopening the bids, and if re-opened as to one, it should be reopened

Dall Asked for Drawings.

Dall had inserted in his bid blank wherever he failed to bid on alternate proposals, a request for detail drawings uch as were supplied for all parts of the "minimum scheme," before submit-ting an offer. These drawings were not prepared on the alternates omitted by Dall, and when a reporter recently asked the commission members to dis-play the drawings and specifications for alternates, the commissioners were unable to do so. When these specifications and drawings are prepared, they must either conform exactly to the sum bid by the contractor or a dilemma will be created in which either the State or the contractor will lose money accordingly as the work calls for less or more than the bid would supply. Having made a bid on work not specified, the contractor may insist upon doing it as it suits his pleasure, unless the board does what it was at liberty to do in the first instance, disregard his bid and does what it was at the first instance disregard his bid and fix a price through the architect on actall specifications for the work it

Dail says the taxpayers of Miss Dail says the taxpayers of Missouri might have saved $200,000 in the performance of the work let to the Gill company if his bid had been considered and accepted. sisting of Gov. Major, Secretary of State Roach, Auditor Gordon, Treasurer Deal and Attorney-General Barker, has authority by law to cancel the contract. The contract let to Gill involves $2,-710,200, and, with the architects' fee of $140,000 and other expenses, aggregates

The voters of the State provided that $3,000,000 of the $3,500,000 bond issue should cover the cost of erecting a complete capitol and to protect the State the law stipulated that no contract for any part of the died should be effective until the mmission had let contracts for the completed structure, within the appropriation.
Under the Gill contract, if fully performed, the capitol would be left 14 feet in the air, on unsightly concrete

It is estimated $600,000 will be the cost of a terrace and drives to conceal these piers and provide approaches to the

The Capitol Commission has admitted the Gill contract exhausts the money voted by the public, together with architect fees of 6 per cent and commis It is the commission's purpose to lay

Hasty Work Caused Scandals. It is the history of many state capitols in the United States that hasty, in:mature, vague plans have resulted in vastly more expense than taxpavers scandals, like that at Harrisburg, Pa., where convictions on graft charges were obtained, have grown out of this lax-

The Missouri Capitol Commission took cognizance of this at the outset of its labors, and advised Gov. Major as follows in a report dated Dec. 31, 1912:
"Many of the mistakes made by other states in erecting their state houses were pointed out to be the result of hasty and premature action at the beginning of the work. The boards having the matter in charge, in concession to public clamor, rushed hurriedly into the onstruction of the building WITHOUT MATURE AND DEFINITE PLANS beforehand. This resulted in many instances, IN COSTLY CHANGES AFT-ERWARDS, and extended the work over a great many years, costing the states a vast amount of money that could have been saved had careful, deliberate plan ning preceded the active work of construction."

Minutes of the Missouri Commission show that already it is planning to change plaster corridors and columns to marble at extra expense under a bid of $150,000 submitted by John Gill & Sons without a piece of paper containing a drawing of the proposed work or anything resembling a specification that could determine the approximate cost of such a change.

By their own admissions, the comr sioners also have entertained from the architect a proposal that work contem-plated in Alternate F in the Gill con-tract, be ignored, and newer and far costlier work be substituted, although no bidder other than Gill ever heard

A few such addition to the cost of the $600,000 terrace yet to be provided for, would make such a stupendous expense that a heavy tax rate increase would have to be made to provide the funds.

If the Assembly refuses to appropriate extra money for the terrace, the capitol, when completed, will be on 14-foot stilts, and the gap between the ground and building will not be concealed even by a bare wall.

Proposes Bill to Create Corporation Commission Conference With House Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Presiden Wilson discussed anti-trust legislation for more than four hours yesterday with members of the Senate Committee and the House Committee on the Judiclary. He emphasized two points: First—That it is the duty of Congres to destroy all instrumentalities by which a favored class has been em-powered to injure competitors and to impose unfair prices and conditions upon the consumers.

Second—That the Democratic party should waste no time in disposing of this legislation in order that business

may go forward.

The Senate Committee, headed by Chairman Newlands, discussed the sub-ject in the morning and Chairman Clay-ton of the House Committee and his party colleagues were closeted with the President from 5 to 7:30 o'clock last evening.

The President reminded both committees that the legislation should be disposed of as rapidly as possible in order that Congress may adjourn early in June. He agreed to the general provincious of the series of the bills which visions of the series of the bills which have been prepared by the House sub-committee, and suggested that a provision should be added for the creation

Bill Makes Guilt Personal. The bill prepared by Representative McCoy for the destruction of the system of interlocking directorates was generally acceptable to the President and the members of both committees. This bill provides that no director of any bank shall sit on the board of a corporation engaged in interstate com-merce. In addition it provides that a firector in a corporation shall not sit upon the board of any other "naturally or petentially" competing corporation.

The committee's bill, which provides The committee's bill, which provides that guilt shall be personal and that directors of effending corporations shall be jailed like common lawbreakers, was also approved. The section which grants individuals the right to appeal to the courts directly, instead of through the Department of Justice, also received general approval. section grants the injured individual the right to get redress through the courts in civil suits to the extent of three times the damage he has sustained and it directs the Department of Justice to proceed in criminal suits against the officers of a corporation whose guilt has been established through the civil suits.

The "debatable ground" around the Sherman law as specified in the committee's bill received the general approval of the confereer. This section makes it an offense for a corporation to enter into trade agreements of any sort that are calculated to be unjust to competitors. It specifically prohibits price fixing, limiting of proany of the other methods that have been exerted by corporations to destroy their weaker competitors. Thus there could be no "reasonable" restraints of trade. The members of the House Committee President's plan for the creation of a corporation commission. In addition to the functions of the Bureau of Carporations, this commission would assist the Department of Justice in carrying out the decrees of the courts in relation to the Sherman anti-Trust Act. It would report to the department any signs that to violate the law. Some members of the committee told the President that many of the Democrats in the House would oppose anything that resembled the Roosevelt-Perkins-Gary plan, which ontrol of the corporate business of the

that his plan was in no wise similar to the Roosevelt scheme. He said he had no intention of suggesting any plan that would give such powers to a com-mission or that would in any way in-terfere with the powers of the courts. One feature that was suggested as a part of the proposed commission was a bureau of information, where the pub-lic might be able to get data concerning corporations, but which would not have the power of granting "immunity baths." While the commission would have no power to demand that corporations should file for public inspection statements of their assets and liabilities or their profits and leaves. ties or their profits and losses, they would be invited to present such data would be invited to present such data for the use of the commission and the inspection of the public.

This voluntary statement, made under eath, would be of such value to high-class and honestly run corporations, it was said, that some members of the committee were inclined to believe it would go far to minimize high finance in the fermation of interstate corporations. These members argued that such a statement would reflect the good condition of a corporation, and it would be availed of to such an extent by the purchasing public that all corporations would be compelled to flie statements for self-protection.

Germany Suggests Joint Military Intervention by Austria and Italy There.

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 15.-The situation in Albania is much more grave than is generally known or officially acknowledged by the European powers according to authoritative information gathered in diplomatic circles today. The various governments are directing all their efforts to prevent a new war in the Balkans.

than at any time preceding or during the recent Balkan wars and is said to have reached such a point that Ger many has proposed joint Austrian and Italian military intervention in Albania Germany has suggested the dispatch of a mixed army of Austrian and Italian troops into Albania to avoid the difficulty of deciding which part of Albanian territory should be occupied by Austria and which by Italy.

The suggested intervention is the rea-son why Italy and Austria recently have concentrated their warships along the Albanian coast Both nations, however, hesitate to follow German advice as they fear further complications. They also are restrained by anxiety as to what night happen in their countries where a costly expedition into Albania would be unpopular, as it would bring little or no return to either of them.

The European governments have obtained or of that the Mussulmans, both in Constantinople and Albania, prepared risings to place Izzet Pasha, formerly Turkish Minister of War, on the throne of Albania. This was frustrated by the arrest, Jan. 6, of six Turkish officers and 200 scidiers at Avlona, the Albania geaport. Evidence also has been obtained that the Mussulmans are deternined to use Albania as a center of disturbances, which will radiate to other parts of the Balkans, and especially to ges "Disloyal Competition." TURIN, Italy, Jan. 15 .- An echo of the visit to Italy of former President Roose velt in 1910 was heard here when a suit for damages instituted by one hot keeper against another was ended by he rejection of the claim.

When Col. and Mrs. Roosevelt mad their "second honeymoon" trip from Spezia to Rapallo, rooms were engaged for them at a hotel at Sestri, but the proprietor of a rival hotel met them with a carriage decorated with Ameri can flags and drove them to his hos telry. The disappointed hotel proprietor then instituted a suit against the other on the charge of "disloyal competition."

Magazine Writer Relates Amusing Experience of "Honorable William Bill."

The romance of "The Honerable Whliam Bill Igoe," and the way in which he "turned a third of the city of St.

"Who's Who, and Why" page of this week's Saturday Evening Post by Sam

The story is the same, in substance, which the Post-Dispatch printed Nov. 12 last, about the 50,000 Agriculture Department bulletins which Congressman Igoe had to send to his Eleventh District constituents, all of them residents of North St. Louis. Troe's attention was called t Congressman, who asked for Igoe's al-lotment, saying that city people did not care for such things. Igoe then wrote to the voters of his district, offering to send them such bulletins as they might wish. The result was an overwhelming demand, not only for pamphlets on cooking and putting up fruit, but for those intended for farmers farming on Dispatch weather bird won a prise at the fourth annual mask hall given by the Famous & Barr Welfare Association, Wednesday hight, at Trimp's Dancing Academy,455 Delmar boulevard. In addition to having a bill and bird-like feet, the weather bird had flashing green electric eyes.

Another prize winner was the impersonation of the store's superintendent. P. C. Baker, was seated in the gallerlies, and the startling likeness enabled him and others to recognize his double the moment he entered the hallroom.

The Famous & Bair Welfare Association is comprised of employes of the store and has a membership of more than 1500. The ball was free to its members and was given under the direction of the enterfalmment committee, of which John Pugh is chairman. It was well attended. All the new dances were featured. Refreshments were served. Prizes were awarded to Roy Williams, Post-Dispatch weather bird; Miss Ads. Sheppard, "tough girl"; Miss Rose Whaley, a washerwoman; Edward Glacer, snowman. A comical group was the "Famous Family," a widow, pair of twins and a bady in a push cart. Those forming the group were Lida Gena, Sadie Rosch, Mamie Rose and Myrtle Porter. The Cobequid had begun to break 'p under the pounding of the terrible seas that had been merciless from the time the vessel struck early Tuesday. Quantities of cargo covered the waters as the lifeboats ranged alongside. The steamers Westport and John L. As the work of rescue progressed the sea subsided con-siderably and no mishap marred the transfer of passengers.

Capt. McKinnon of the Westport found the liner on the southeast part of Tria-ity Ledge at 4:20 in the afternoon. At the time there was a high wind and rough sea. He took off in three lifeboat loads 72 persons, including all the pas-sengers, the purser, several deck officers

Music will melt away the barriers of formality quicker than any other form of entertainment - as all good hostesses know. The problem is to get the music-a great variety of it-and to provide it whenever occasion requires, without previous arrangement.

The possession of a Pianola is the solution of the difficultyfor anyone may play it well, and any composition desired is at the command of the company. It is, however, vital to have no mere substitute, but instead

The Genuine PIANOLA

The genuine Pianola is not to be classed with mere player-pianos, for it possesses complete and adequate means for exactly expressing music as the performer may wish.

Moreover—the genuine Pianola embodies a number of vital features which are vital to the artistic rendition of music, and which are exclusive to it.

The Pianola is the finished creation of the greatest organization of piano and player experts in the entire world—the one supreme player action.

In St. Louis the genuine Pianola may be seen only at Aeolian Hall—do not be misled! It is built into but six pianos—Steinway, Stroud, Steck, Stuyvesant, Wheelock and Weber.

(It is customary in some stores to attempt to confuse Pianola with "player-piano." Pianola is the trademark name of the player action of the Aeolian Company. There are more Pianolas in use in Saint Louis than all "player-pianes" combined.)

Among the exclusive features of the genuine Pianola are

The Metrostyle whereby one may follow the exact "tempo rubato" or time expression of the master who dictated the tempo. No device or action has ever been devised that will achieve the results in artistic playing which the Metrostyle makes possible for any performer on the genuine Pianola.

The Themodist whereby the theme or melody of a composition is caused to sing clearly above the background or accompaniment. Many attempts have been made to produce substitutes for this important device, but none are successful.

The Graduated Accompaniment -whereby the relation between the theme or melody and the accompaniment may be varied as to contrast, at the will of the performer. This is a wonderfully responsive action and vital to the artistic rendition of Why even consider a substitute, when you can get a $550 genuine Pianola for Choral, but Musical.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch Once in a while St. Louis gets up and doe Once in a while St. Louis gets up and does something that is surprising and worth whilenot from a monetary or financial point of view (that is what we do all the time, and never get proper credit for) but from an artistic point, which is one that no one ever expects from us. And yet we keep on doing it (once in a while, as I said) with a serene modesty that is edifying, and which ought to be more generally recognized than its not by outsiders but by us ourselves. than it is, not by outsiders, but by us, ourselves.

If I were its press agent I would have chosen some less opus-tinged title; "Choral" always suggests to me something dry and forbidding, and as I f the average people I take it for granted the word has the same effect on my We all have the same picture in our minds less lot of notes, with an orchestra sawing wood in the foreground, and we come away from the al" concert with a sense of having done our al duty, and of being glad that it is over.

That was not my experience this night of the hearsal of this particular Choral Society. It as choral—there was no denying that, but it was choral—there was no denying that, but it was choral Art, and there was no denying that either. Where I expected to be bored to the point of suffocation I found myself interested, and where I anticipated hearing only voices that were not quite good enough for solo singing, I listened to freshness and sweetness that was as

I suppose that part of it was owing to the all they pleased, but all the same it was interesting. They did not say the same words to practically the same notes, over and over; no, indeed. They took a piece of musical music, like Colering-Taylor's Hiawatha, or Gounod's "Ring out, Taylor's Hiswaths, or Gounod's "Ring out, Bells," and proceeded to give the beautiful abedevilled melody and harmony in a way cossible to really musicianly singers.

Let Us Manufacture Our Own Cotton Goods.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I want to make a suggestion that I think will bring greater prosperity in the next five years than anything I can think of. We now raise and export 5,000,000 to 7,000,000 bales of cotton. This raw product goes to countries who make it up and ship it into territory that we can handle. If ship it into territory that we can handle. If an held this cotton in our own country and facture it and send it to this territory ourse it means hundreds of millions of dollars for the United States. It means ships to it. It means a little cotton mill in nearly town in this country. It means that we see longer sell raw material to Japan or a and allow them to ship it back as manured goods to cut down our American working and woman in our cotton mills. Investigate you will find they are doing this very thing and both countries are building more mills. can we do this: Put an export duty of $100 to no cotton. This is sure to come. Why he Post-Dispatch be the first to advocate it? and think what this means inside of five. Then the Panama Canal would be worth as. The agency fee scandal in the placing of inder ty bonds for the construction of the State Capito aggests several pertinent questions.

The facts so far obtained show that Secretary of State Roach and State Auditor Gordon, members of the Board of Permanent Seat of Government, which appointed the Building Commission, tried before the contract was awarded to induce bidders to promise to place the indemnity bonds with a Kansas City firm. The successful contractor refused to accede to this demand, but it was finally arranged that certain favored bond agents should receive all of the agency fees, amounting to about $12,000.

Why did Messrs. Roach and Gordon interest themselves in the placing of the bonds with a particular agency? Why did they select these favored agents for this purpose? What is their interest in these particular agents that they should insist upon the special favor for their

SET HOMELESS MEN TO WORK.

The notice said to have been given to the homeless men at the Municipal Lodging House that unless they find jobs by Saturday night they will be given hours to leave the city, is no solution of the difficulty. Among nearly a thousand men there must be a number who would gladly work if they could find employment. But if the Free Employment Bureau, with its supposedly wide connection with employers, can offer them nothing. why expect them, on such short notice, to do better individually?

Work should be found for those willing to work. Those not willing should be sent to the city rock pile and made to work. Other cities have solved the problem, in whole or in part. Kansas City gives work to men who need it at the municipal farm. And a large number of the unemployed at ian Francisco are to be given work in construct ing a Government road.

Applying the test of work, at such wages as will ter, is the scientific and humane way out of the difficulty. To drive these men out of the city is simply to shift the burden onto other communi ties and invite them to do the same by us. It is an unintelligent and inhuman method.

THE BILLBOARD DANGER.

Wednesday the playful wind illustrated the danger of the unregulated billboard by blowing a big double-decker at Olive and Taylor into the yard of the Eugene Field School. Fortunately, theichildren were not playing in the yard at the time and escaped the danger of death or injury.

If school children had been killed or injured who would have been responsible? We will not attempt to decide the question from a legal standpoint, but morally Mayor Kiel, City Counsellor Baird and Building Commissioner McKelvey, who have stood in the way of enforcing the law, would have had to bear full responsibility. Danger from over-sized billboards, billboards without wind vents and billboards too near the sidewalk is ever present.

The 1905 law is vindicated by events. Building Commissioner McKelvey risks damnation by failing to enforce it.

Robinson Ignorant of Transfer Here 30 Days After Trade Is Made

THIRTY days ago Hank (Rube) Robinson, the southpaw pitcher, was traded by the Pirates man swap. Tuesday at noon Rob-inson learned of his fate.

Robinson lives in the tall grass of Arkansas, eight miles from civilization. Manager Huggins tried for four days to reach him by special delivery, telegraph and tele-phone. He finally succeeded via the telephone and came to terms with the big pitcher.

"What right have you to sign me?" asked Robinson when Hug-gins suggested a salary. The news that he was a member of the Car-dinals was broken gently over 800 miles of wirs and the verbal contract closed. Whereupon, Robinson went back to oblivion, unaware hat the Federal League had signed ither Tinker, Brown, Knabe, Bren-an or Killefer. He said he hadn't osed.
